Career Decision Making Course

Instructions:

To complete the course you should email each of the 6 workbooks to yourself and complete them.

Inform Mrs. Perrin of completion on the following email:

careers@q3langleys.org.uk

Once complete you will receive a certificate of completion.

Academic Route

- One of the main differences between academic study and vocational is that studying for A-Levels involves study across a variety of different subjects, whereas studying for a vocational qualification, although made up of a variety of components, is all aimed at one subject.
- Another difference is that A-Level assessment comes at the end of the course, rather than continuous assessment.

Vocational Route

A vocational course is a training programme which focuses more on practical work, rather than traditional academic exams. The 'Vocational' part of the name refers to the fact that this course prepares you for a vocation - a particular skillset required in different types of jobs. Some course examples include: BTECs, T-Levels and Apprenticeships.
